The Story in 100 words

We're in a small town of Arkansas where five women made of steel have decided to get rid of the filth in town. They lobby every day in front of the porn shop, the bookstore and the local association of lesbians. Anyone approaching any of these three places is denounced to the whole community. So the owners of the porn shop, the bookstore and the lesbian association have no choice but to act. They will come up with a plan to destroy the reputation of our five lobbying women.

Short Synopsis of Save America from this Filth!

The long synopsis follows

The movie starts with five women sitting in the dark around a table. We learn that they have developed a website of the town customers of filth. Anyone going into the porno store, the bookstore (they sell that last Harry Potter book!) or the association of lesbians is fired upon. Their license plate is photographed, their name and photos goes online, their family and employers are contacted. We need to get rid of the filth in town, and the ones supporting it.

We then see them doing just that. They are lobbying in front of these three places, taking photos and brandishing pamphlets to anyone who wish to listen to their plea. We see the owners of the porn shop and bookstore, and the President of the Lesbian's association looking quite astonished and depressed by this action, it hurts their business and feelings.

Those three are suddenly showed in the dark around a table. They discuss the situation and a pact is signed. They will destroy these five bitches at any cost. They will dig dirt from their past, and if all fails, they will create embarrassing situations and make them public, so they will not lobby anymore.
